A TRIO OF IMPORTANT REFERENCE WORKS

The people behind today's scientific achievements

AMERICAN MEN AND WOMEN OF SCIENCE

Physical and Biological Sciences
New 12th edition. 8½" x 11".

For sixty-five years this distinguished biographical directory has been a valued information source for libraries, research facilities, personnel directors, college administrators, scientists and newsmen.

Now the new, thoroughly revised and updated 12th edition is in preparation, with Volume I, A-C names, scheduled for publication in November. A 1,275 page book, it will contain 25,000 biographies (2,300 more than the last edition).

This entire six-volume reference work will include comprehensive biographical data on 147,000 active American and Canadian men and women (14,000 more than in the 11th edition) now making significant contributions in over 600 fields of the physical and biological sciences. Biographies give name, birthplace and date, degrees, present and past positions, fields of specialization, professional affiliations, mailing address, and publications.

Volumes II through VI will be published in alphabetical sequence over the next two years. The price for Volume I is $35.00 net pp. Subsequent volumes are tentatively priced at $35.00 net pp. each.

Keep pace with the multi-billion dollar R & D industry

INDUSTRIAL RESEARCH LABORATORIES OF THE UNITED STATES

13th edition. 8½" x 11". 659 pages. $42.50 net pp. Available now.

Here's the most comprehensive and up-to-date directory available to corporate and other private research organizations and product development facilities.

Arranged alphabetically, it lists 5,237 laboratories within 3,115 companies engaged in industrial research. Entries give parent company, names of key administrative personnel, field and educational level of the total research staff, research interests of the company, and whether a specific laboratory performs research for outsiders or only for its parent organization. Under each parent company, subsidiaries are listed with descriptive information.

Adding immeasurably to its usefulness are a 2,000-heading subject index which provides a helpful overview for fields now being researched; a personnel index which lists senior research people not named in the main entry, plus key executives listed in each company's entry; and a geographical index which lists each company by state and city location.

A must for those in the information, communication and behavioral fields

INTRODUCTION TO INFORMATION SCIENCE

by Tefko Saracevic
8½" x 11". 751 pages. $25.00 net pp. Available now.

Now librarians, educators, students working in the library and information sciences can benefit from an important theoretical/experimental sourcebook on the subject. 66 well-chosen, salient essays synthesize the many aspects of this highly-complex, multi-disciplinary "supra-science" and provide an overview of the nature, problems and functions of information science.

Some of the most-cited authors, Bar-Hillel, Fairthorne, Vickery, Lubetzky, Goffman, Kochen, De Solla Price, and others, are among the 69 experts in social and behavioral sciences, linguistics, logic, information theory, cybernetics and computer science, systems analysis, mathematics and other fields who wrote the articles. They were compiled into a book to help you understand the inter-relationships and functions of these disciplines in the communication of ideas and information in our society.

Here's what Library Journal said in the March 1, 1971 issue:

"At three cents a page, the book's a bargain! . . . Much more than a 'reader' . . . is worth the price to both student and library alike."

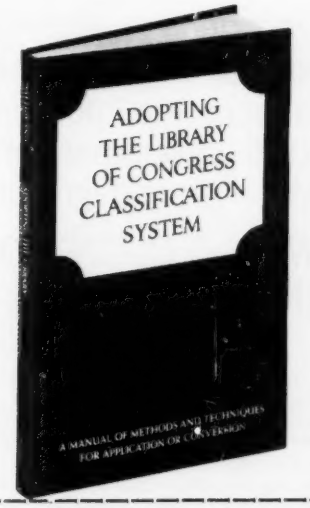
Adopting The Library Of Congress Classification System

A Manual of Methods and Techniques for Application or Conversion

6⅝" x 10". 270 pages. $13.95 net pp. Ready November.



Raimund E. Matthis and Desmond Taylor gained practical experience and know-how by reclassifying the University of Puget Sound's Collins Memorial Library. Then they wrote this unique manual to show how to go about setting up the LC system in any size or kind of library.

Here are clear, profusely illustrated descriptions of every step in the procedure, from start to finish. You'll learn, for instance, how to:

- ► estimate dollar and labor costs of recataloging
- ► set up a timetable for reclassifying collections so as to disrupt the library's public service function as little as possible
- ► handle special problems in cataloging series, bibliographies, biographies, literature
- ► set up fast, efficient card duplication techniques using Xerox duplicating machines, with costs, materials needed, "how-to" procedures
- ► and much, much more!

Rounding out this valuable guide are a selective bibliography of procedural and historical literature published on the subject through 1969, and an all-inclusive index that records entries, alphabetically, by name and broad subject areas.

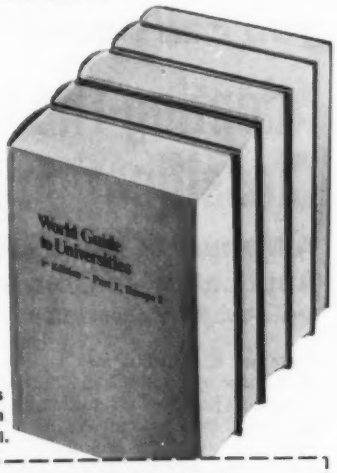
Librarians . . . Administrators . . . Professors . . . Students . . .

you can now go to one central source for accurate information about 6,000 universities throughout the world which grant degrees!

WORLD GUIDE TO UNIVERSITIES (Internationales Universitäts-Handbuch)



5½" x 8½". 5,200 pages. $95.00 net pp. per 5-volume set

Discover, for instance, which schools in France offer courses in Tropical Medicine. Or who are the professors and lecturers in Parasitology at the University of Cambridge. Or how many courses of study are offered at Copenhagen University.

6,000 universities . . . 90,000 of their institutes and schools . . . 200,000 faculty members! Each geographically-arranged entry tells you:

- ☐ university's address, student enrollment, year of foundation
- ☐ names of administrators and librarian
- ☐ address of library where it differs from main listing
- ☐ names of the schools and departments of each university
- ☐ names and subject specialties of faculty members.

Each volume has a table of contents that lists the universities by country and city. A detailed subject index is also included.

Volume I: Europe, from Albania through Great Britain, and Volume II: Europe, from Ireland to the Vatican, are available now. Volume III: U.S. and Canada; Volume IV: Latin America, Asia and Africa; and Volume V: Indexes, will be ready early 1972:

Please note that this work can only be ordered as a set. Upon receipt of your order, Volumes I and II will be shipped, and you will be billed for one-half of the total price. Volumes III, IV, and V will be shipped upon their arrival in the U.S., whereupon you will be billed for the remainder.
